

Central California Training Academy presents:

Family First Prevention Services Act: Opportunities and Implications for the Central Region

Part 1 in a 3 part series

In partnership with Casey Family Programs

OVERVIEW:

The Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA) presents an unprecedented opportunity to give child welfare systems the tools they need to make transformative changes that strengthen families so more children can remain safely with their parents and kinship caregivers.

This is the first webinar in a series of three webinars. The main purpose of this webinar is for everyone to firmly grasp the legislation and to understand implications and opportunities in the central region.

This great series is brought to us by Casey Family Programs, and will feature:

- Parent Testimony
- Joan Smith Managing Director, CFP System Improvement Services
- Clare Anderson, MSW Policy Fellow, Chapin Hall, University of Chicago

GOALS:

- Share understanding and exploration of child welfare system transformation leveraging the Family First Act
- Understand key provisions of the Act and implications
- Learn about opportunities and challenges of implementation from colleagues across the early implementers' cohort.
